

Lyn Barham

Lyn's Fellowship is in recognition of the wide-ranging contribution she has made to research, training, professional development, and guidance practice.

She has made significant contributions to the international guidance field through the International Association for Educational and Vocational Guidance (IAEVG), of which she has been both acting Secretary General and Treasurer, and through the European Centre for the Development of Vocational Training (Cedefop) for whom she has led research projects and contributed extensively to publications.

She is an iCeGS Associate, a NICEC Fellow and has always been an active member of both the Institute of Career Guidance and the CDI.

Most recently, as a research associate for the CDI she has helped to develop a bank of resources on the website to enable members to support their Continuing Professional Development. She also produces the invaluable CPD newsletter which goes out to all CDI members.

Lyn is currently working with a cross-association group of the CDI, iCeGS and AGCAS to develop and implement the annual practitioner researcher conference. She has an interest in nurturing practitioner researcher talent and has been working to develop a repository for student dissertations.

Lyn has been a career guidance professional for over 45 years working quietly, continuously, and tirelessly for the benefit of her fellow professionals.
